STICK TO THEIR POSTS.

Engineer and Firemen Blinded by Steam Bring Train In. NEW YORK, March 16 .- Zealous of the trust which all faithful railroad men feel is imposed upon them in "keeping the tracks clear," the engineer and fireman on a New Jersey Central engine endured excruciating pain last night while bringing their train into Jersey City. They were Engineer William Stillwagon, aged thirty, and Fireman Edward Ross. A steam tube of the locomotive blew out as the train was moving along the tracks near the Port Liberty coal dock at Communipaw. Both men were assalled by scalding steam, but they refused to desert in the face of peril. Stillwagon was temporarily blinded by the steam, but attended to his duties by the sense of touch. In spite of their agonies, the men stuck to the engine until Jersey City was reached, where a flagman was called at Phillip street. He brought assist-

HOW TO TEST BEER'S PURITY. Instructive Bulletin Issued by the Realty Company to Samuel N. Boyce,

Agricultural Department. The Agricultural Department today issued a bulletin on pure beer and prescribing the ideal method of testing the beverage. The bulletin has been awaited with interest by the American public ever since it became known that experiments were in progress and it is expected that the first edition of the valuable pamphlet will be exhausted in a few days. Every saloon keeper in Washington should have a copy of the bulletin, for, with it in his hand, no brewer can get the best of him. It is understood that the Bartenders' Union will send in a request for 5,000 copies. The only things necessary in making the simple little test recommended by the department as being the best are a round-bottomed distillation flask, a gram of pre-bottomed distillation flask, a gram of pre-cipitated calcium carbonate, a condenser, an accurately graduated stoppered flask, a two-holed rubber stopper, an adapter, a small funnel, a pound of glass beads, a copy of Squiobs' alcohol table, a copy of Baum-hauer's tables, one Zelss immersion refrac-tometer, a tared platinum dish, one water oven one copy bear mort table, a copy oven, one copy beer wort tables, one pack-age neutral litmus paper, a small quantity of phenolphthalin, a bottle of hydrochloric acid, one polariscope, a beaker, a solution of sodium acetate, one burette, one centrifuge, one platinum crucible, a giass plate, a cake of Carnauba wax, a pointed plece of ivory and a sheet of pure rubber.

With these articles, most of which are to be found behind any bar, and with the aid of the department's instructions, any barof the department's instructions, any bar-keeper may spend an idle moment in deter-mining whether the beer sold in the place is as good as it should be. For instance, if he wants to find out something about the volatile acids in the beer he merely has to tiltrate 20 cc. of the alcohol distillate with decinormal sodium hydroxid solution, using phenolphthalin as an indicator, and re-member that the number of cubic centi-meters of decinormal alkali employed mulmeters of decinormal alkali employed mul-tiplied by 0.030 gives the acidity expessed as grams of acetic acid per 100 cc.
